Dear Ann

Please accept my regards and best wishes

With reference to concerns raised about the 41A service and alleged overcrowding on the journeys that serve the school at Malpas.

The service is regularly monitored by both us and CWACC, who have even sent their staff on the bus. The bus, whilst being quite full, is operating within its legal capacity. We cannot operate bigger buses on this journey due to the constraints of Hargrave Canal Bridge.

The bus is also fitted with a luggage compartment, but if children decide to bring oversize bags, instruments or suitcases then we reserve the right to refuse to accept them.

These problems have arisen due to the change of policy forced onto CWACC and we are working with them to provide extra accommodation in September, as we anticipate extra demand.

I can assure you that the service is safe to use, and would be willing to attend future meetings to speak to concerned parties, if you send me the future meeting dates.

I am sure that John and Kerry would also be delighted to attend and explain their actions too.

John Cherry
